

ANOTHER HAPPY MAN

SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS
SAYS GOLDINE IS A WONDER

With some of us as we go through life, fate is most unkind. This well known man says:

Mr. Edward Raymond

Mr. Edward Raymond of 224 Grove St., who has been afflicted for the past six years with stomach trouble, what he thinks of GOLDINE.

tried it. It has done me a wonderful amount of good, not only freeing me from rheumatism and the cramps which I had so bad, but it has also freed me from catarrh of the head and throat. I had the mucus dropping down into my throat, until it caused me the greatest inconvenience, and upset my stomach badly. To all my friends I can say this is a good remedy as it has done wonders for me, and I am ready to give it my endorsement any time.

BOTH WERE OUT OF LUCK

Colonel Just Happened Along, and Private Selected Plaster Material on Which to Practice.

The colonel had hidden his horse to town, in the afternoon, and it was dark when he returned to camp. Some distance outside the guard line he was challenged by a voice from the darkness:

"What? Who goes there?"

"Dismount, colonel. Advance and be recognized."

He was certain that there was some mistake, for no guard was supposed to be posted there. But a sentry's orders are not to be disobeyed, so he grumblingly dismounted and led his horse forward, inwardly vowing vengeance against the sergeant of the guard who had caused him all this trouble.

As he approached the sentry he burst out wrathfully:

"Who in thunder posted you here?"

"No one, sir. I'm just practicing."

Tension Was Relieved.

Some time ago a regiment of colored stevedores was en route overseas on a transport. A large number of them were confined and cotton workers, unaccustomed to the water. Of course there had been much talk of submarines.

On the sixth day out one of the cannons of the transport suddenly boomed, and call to quarters was sounded, soon followed by "Abandon ship" call. There were several more shots, and the feeling was intense. It was not known whether the submarine would fire a torpedo or not. After a series of shots, with the tension at its highest pitch, there was a sudden dead quiet. All faces were peering over the rail for the unknown peril. Suddenly from the rear rank was heard, "Is there any nigger present who wants to buy a gold watch and chain?"

The tension was immediately relieved.

New Airplanes.

New British airplanes increase the margin of safety against accident. This story of a recent test shows how stable these airplanes are: A pilot climbed to a sufficient height, and then stopped his engine and took his hands off the controls, merely keeping his feet on the rudder bar. He soared for an altitude 20 miles away and except for keeping it straight he let the plane do what it liked. It traveled the whole 20 miles as steadily as a bicycle coasting down a long, straight and gentle hill. Of course, the pilot had to take hold of the control stick to land the machine in the airframe, but except for that and the steering the plane made the whole journey by itself.

A DISAGREEMENT RIGHT AWAY.

This is a delightful place to spend your honeymoon, isn't it? Not another man in sight. That's the only objection I have to it.

Hampered by Bad Roads.

Had Palestine been provided with good roads the British could have ended the campaign therein last year. It is a small country. The area west of the Jordan is only 6,000 square miles, or, approximately, the size of Connecticut and Rhode Island combined. With the indefinite territory east of the Jordan added, estimated variously at 3,500 to 3,800 square miles—mostly arid desert—Palestine is about the size of Vermont, and curious to relate, much the same shape. The Connecticut river, that separates Vermont from New Hampshire, is a much larger stream than the Jordan; also very much straighter and better behaved.

Controlling the Winds.

Controlling the winds is not yet an aviation triumph. If an aircraft starts from one point to fly to another due east, and there is a wind blowing at 15 miles an hour northeast, that will clearly have to be taken into consideration, and the compass course altered (before ascending), according to the total distances of the journey.

Italy Has New Fertilizer.

Italian manufacturers are turning out a new fertilizer, called tetraphosphate, which, according to technical experts, is equally as good as, if not better than, some of the phosphates that have been in use for years. The new fertilizer is made by a special treatment of natural phosphate rock powder.

Woof, Woof!

Irate Caller—Say, that darn dog of yours tried to bite me without a moment's warning.

Man of the House—Very likely, sir. He often takes snap judgment on strangers.

The Undaunted Amateur.

"Are you going to make another garden next year?"

"No," said Mr. Crosslots. "I'm going to keep on coaxing the same old garden."

One Airman's Record.

One British airman serving on the western front in a single month shot down 25 German planes. In all he has destroyed 75 Teuton machines.

Remarkable Armistice.

One of the most remarkable armistices on modern record was concluded between Spain and the western republics of South America at Washington in 1871. It provided that there should be no renewal of hostilities between the contracting parties, except after a three-years' notice, which was to be given through the United States government.

Notes Instead of Cais.

The note of sympathy for sick persons has taken the place of the call. It is proper and kind to send a note expressing regret for a friend's illness and suggesting one would like to call when the invalid is convalescent. All messages written or sent to the sick should be brief and cheerful.—Buddy Bye.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the well curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to sapped nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by G. Kay in Bennington and all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, a spleen and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

The Bennington Garage

Service Department

THIS DEPARTMENT has now received over a month of special attention from Mr. Williams since his return from Burlington. The department is now organized to give far better service and show a much greater efficiency than has ever before been possible.

The care and repair of storage batteries are items for which the Service Department is especially well equipped with knowledge, equipment and a well organized system of recording the condition, progress and behavior of the batteries.

The plan used of cleaning, inspecting and submitting to the owner a list of items needing attention will interest all car owners.

LITANY FOR PESSIMISTS

Regarding this war, you are mobilized or not mobilized.

If you are not mobilized there is nothing to worry about.

If you are mobilized you have two alternatives:

Either you are at the front or in the reserves.

If you are in the reserves there is nothing to worry about.

If you are at the front you still have two alternatives:

Either you get hurt or you don't get hurt.

If you don't get hurt there is nothing to worry about.

If you do get hurt you still have two alternatives:

Either you get slightly hurt or seriously wounded.

If you get slightly hurt there is nothing to worry about.

If you get seriously wounded you have two alternatives:

Either you recover or you don't recover.

If you recover there is nothing to worry about.

If you don't recover—Well—you can't worry.

Great British Soldier.

Arthur Wellesley, first Duke Wellington, was born probably on the 29th of April, 1769, in Dublin. He was an unpromising boy, and his mother, deciding that her "ugly boy, Arthur," was "fit food for powder and nothing else," sent him to a military academy at Angers, France. He entered the army in 1787 and rose rapidly, seeing much service, until his great opportunity came when Napoleon returned for a time and Wellington was summoned to command the forces of the English and allies in Belgium, in co-operation with the Prussians under Blücher. The battles of Ligny and Quatre Bras were followed by the battle of Waterloo, June 18, 1815, which finally shattered the power of Napoleon. Wellington was buried in St. Paul's cathedral, November 18, 1832.
